Two British Ships Quit New York for Dangerous Voyages

Mauritania Leaves Harbor
During Night, but Queen
Mary Sails Out in Broad Daylight

Ports Unknown

Commanders Proceeding
Under Orders to Be Seen
Far at Sea

New York, March 21 (AP)—Two of the proudest liners of the British merchant fleet ploughed uncertain waters today in a gamble with war-time hazards of the high seas.

Slightly more than 12 hours after the 35,739-ton Mauritania slipped out through a misty rain from the pier where she had been tied up for three months, the giant Queen Mary nosed out into the sunlit-Hudson and passed down the bay.

The destination of the two liners was known only to their commanders, who sailed under sealed orders, not to be opened until they were well at sea, but presumably sending them on dangerous missions as troop ships.

Rain, wind and hail swept the Mauritania's decks last night, when she signaled her departure by two sharp blasts of her whistle, but this morning the 81,235-ton Queen Mary sailed under a clear, cloudless sky.

A spring breeze whipped up whitecaps on the bay contrasting to the flashes of lightning and sharp gusts which attended the Mauritania's dramatic night sailing.

Both Liners Are Drab

Both liners were drab in their camouflage gray, their windows blackened and all signs of identity blotted out.

In a simple dramatic sentence, the Marine News ticker told of the Mauritania's departure on her dangerous mission thus:

"8:52 p. m. a British ship, no signals, passing quarantine, bound out."

The Queen Mary had been at her berth here since September 4—the day after war started. Workmen swarmed over her, blotting out her brilliant colors with slate grey.

Where the two vessels were bound and for what purpose the British admiralty planned to employ them, remained mysterious, although persistent rumors along the waterfront had it that they had been assigned to trooping duty between Australia and the Near East, where France and Britain are massing a huge army.

Another report was that one or both of the ships were bound for Halifax, with a possible stop at Boston on the way.

For more than two days unusual activity along the waterfront had made it certain that the two vessels which were sent here as exiles were getting ready to leave.

Blasts Tell Departure

A series of strident blasts from the Queen Mary's whistle signalled her departure at 8:20 a. m., 12 hours and 20 minutes after the Mauritania moved out in New York's first spring storm.

The Queen Mary was escorted by a number of smaller vessels, whose diminutive size was accentuated by the gigantic hull of the great ship, third largest in the world. The identity of the escort vessels, presumably Coast Guard cutters and police launches, could not be determined from shore.

Good Friday Proclamation Is Given Out at City Hall

The mayor today released the following Good Friday proclamation:

The thinking world is rejoicing in this Spring Time for the Victory of Love over hate, of Life over death, Jew and Gentile in sacrament and prayer are turning to a suffering, loving God as to the elue to the mystery of a disconcerting life.

On Good Friday of this week the Christian world with true spiritual vision will turn from the tantalizing mirage of pleasures, greed and material ambitions like "—and a child with tired feet homeward set,

Back to the Cross, and lo! our lids are wet."

Materialism, greed, and selfish ambition turn away from sacrificial love and lead men to forget the Holy God, Father of all mankind. Who gives and serves and loves. Never since "the morning stars sang together" was it more evident than at this hour in the world's life that world fellowship and brotherhood can come only through sacrifice; through love of God; and through love of all our fellowmen.

I ask that on Friday afternoon, between noon and three o'clock, the hours of the Crucifixion, we lay aside the world's work and do reverent homage to the Christ Who gave for the world His life in Love on Calvary's Cross.

CONRAD J. HEISELMAN,
Mayor

Savings-Loan Association Is Given $9,933.08 Check To Cover Barton Larceny

Wednesday afternoon a check in the sum of $9,933.08 was given to E. Frank Flanagan, president of the Savings and Loan Association of Kingston, by R. L. Dorsey, resident vice-president of the American Surety Company of New York, in full settlement of the loss and claim which was occasioned through the thefts of Miss Edith D. Barton.

Miss Barton, former employee of the association, was sentenced recently in County Court to a term in Westfield State Prison at Bedford Hills, in connection with a shortage of funds of the association. She was returned from Florida, was indicted for forgery and grand larceny and was sentenced to prison on her plea of guilty to larceny.

The amount of the shortage was learned after a complete audit of the association's accounts by Ronder & Ronder, public accountants, and an examination by State Banking Department officials.

Not a dollar of loss was suffered by the association, a member of the board told a Freeman reporter, through the acts of Miss Barton.

Settlement of the claim was made as soon as the full amount of the shortage was known definitely and a formal claim was filed, said an official. Sufficient coverage to assure depositors against any loss to them has always been carried by the association, he added.

It's Phenomenal Also It's Unwelcome

Syracuse, N. Y., March 21 (AP)—Northern New York state counties, buffeted all winter by record snows, returned wearily to the task of digging themselves out again.

From three to six inches of snow fell in the Watertown region, where scores of automobiles were stranded in drifts, and railroad snow plows buckled along the Clayton and Adirondack branches of the New York Central.

The Lowell-Copenhagen Hill was completely blocked, and passage hazardous from Copenhagen to Watertown. The temperature fell to eight degrees above zero in Watertown.

In Syracuse, where two inches of snow fell, residents awoke to see fields everywhere dotted with thousands of windblown snowballs, a rare phenomenon that occurs when winds of drifting strength attack moist "packy" snow.

Hull-Farley Talk Is Revived Today

Some Interpreters Believe Farley Will Run Despite What F. D. R. Does

Washington, March 21 (AP)—Talk of a Hull-Farley Democratic ticket was revived on Capitol Hill today as discussion of the postmaster general's unresvered announcement of his candidacy ran the gamut of interpretations.

Most senators expressed the opinion that the cabinet officer, in saying flatly his name would be presented to the Democratic national convention, did so believing that President Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term.

A few, talking privately, interpreted the announcement as placing Farley in the same category as Vice President Garner—a candidate whether the President runs or not. Farley would not clear up this point in talking to reporters yesterday at Springfield, Mass.

New Dealer's View

One influential New Deal senator from the east, as close to the chief executive as anyone in Congress, said he did not know what was in the President's mind but he thought Farley had acted in the belief that Mr. Roosevelt wanted to retire.

"I believe a Hull-Farley ticket would make a good ticket," added this senator. Like many others, he felt Farley is not challenging the President in the sense that Garner is, and has not closed the door to supporting Mr. Roosevelt should the latter run.

Garner forces, however, expressed private elation over Farley's action. They voiced the opinion (Continued on Page 19)

Bill Is Favored To Launch Betting At State's Tracks

Finance Committee Says Measure Satisfactory and Passes Section Making Bookies Outlawed

Albany, N. Y., March 21 (AP)—The Senate finance committee agreed today on a bill inaugurating pari-mutuel betting at New York's race tracks, including a provision outlawing bookmakers, and leaders immediately set Tuesday for debate and a vote. The measure was authorized by the 1939 electorate.

While the bill ends bookmaking by repealing the Crawford law which removes the criminal penalty for betting, supporters of "bookies" said they would attempt to amend it on the Senate and Assembly floor to permit bookmaking for bets of $100 and more.

Chief Provisions

Chief provisions of the bill:

Permit an increase in the stakes from five to nine; fix a $1.50 minimum admission fee, inclusive of tax; allot $400,000 to county fairs for "the improvement of the breed of trotting horses;" prohibit pari-mutuel machines at the State Fair in Syracuse and require a non-partisan state racing commission of four members.

The present three man commission, Herbert Bayard Swope, John Sloan and John Hay Whitney, will continue in office at least until their terms expire in May this year, 1942 and 1944 respectively.

The measure would require pari-mutuel machines to pay off at the lowest nickel instead of a dime as originally proposed. The machines do not give the winners the odd change.

The legislation also proposes an equal division of the take between the state and tracks.

Governor Lehman estimates the state will receive $1,000,000 up to July 1 and $4,000,000 the following year.

Meantime, Republican legislative leaders determined to shelve all further controversial measures, satisfied to stand on the "party's record of economy" in a New Jersey bookmaking angle."

Killed for Dollar

New York, March 21 (AP)—Menacing whispers of fear, reports of manifold "fixing" activities of a sleepy, unsmiling woman in shabby black, and swift, cold-blooded death at the hands of "friends"—these were pictured by Brooklyn authorities as they plunged deeper today into the incredible realm of a wholesome "murder-for-cash" syndicate.

Already the searching fingers of the law have reached from across the country westward to Hollywood and south to Florida for men it says have had a part in the killing of at least 30 persons—for a price sometimes as low as $1.

Thus far eight alleged members of the ring have been indicted for first degree murder and Brooklyn District Attorney William F. O'Dwyer stoutly declared he had only started. He buttressed this claim with the assertion he had enough evidence to send more than one of the leaders to the electric chair.

The Brooklyn prosecutor said he had instigated wide search for Al Strauss, brother of "Pittsburgh Phil" Strauss, in connection with a vagrancy charge on which Al was arrested eight months ago.

O'Dwyer also said that in connection with the raising of a defense fund he was "looking into a New Jersey bookmaking angle."

The legislation also proposes an equal division of the take between the state and tracks.

This decision means dumping of the governor's demands that Republican lawmakers make additional cuts to "balance the budget" and his recommendation to divert $60,000,000 for highways from a railroad grade crossing elimination fund.

In addition to the pari-mutuel bill a major remaining issue which must be settled is some means of compensating New York city for $3,500,000 loss of state funds through budget cuts.

State Trooper W. J. Hayes (left), posing as a "killer," uncovered in Uniontown, Pa., a bizarre murder-for-insurance plot in which Mrs. Amelia Santilli (center), 38-year-old wife of a tavern keeper in the town and the Rev. Clayton R. Miller (right) of Brownsville, Pa., are accused of scheming to kill Mrs. Santilli's husband, Albert. Motor Police Lieutenant William R. Hanna said Mrs. Santilli and the 63-year-old Rev. Mr. Miller signed statements admitting the frustrated plot which they blamed each other for originating.

New York, March 21 (AP)—The wives of two informers in the investigation of "Murder, Inc." were described as "literally scared to death" of gang vengeance today, leading authorities to post a 24-hour police guard over their Brooklyn homes.

The two women are Mrs. Helen Levine, young wife of Abraham "Pretty Boy" Levine, and Mrs. Mary Maffettore, wife of Tony "The Duke" Maffettore, who allegedly were small fry members of the Brooklyn slaughter syndicate, linked with at least 30 underworld slayings.

Meanwhile, District Attorney William F. O'Dwyer, who has declared he would "drive every gang rat out of Brooklyn," said the murder-for-cash syndicate was raising a defense "slush fund."

The information that a defense fund is being raised here and in other cities supports my theory that the gang's master mind is still at large," O'Dwyer said.

The prosecutor disclosed that a small part of the ring's lucrative income, aside from its inter-state murder operations, was derived from racetrack bookmaking. O'Dwyer said the syndicate received about $400,000 a year from bookie sources.

With eight persons already under indictment, O'Dwyer said he had enough evidence to send more than one of the leaders to the electric chair.

The Brooklyn prosecutor said he had instigated wide search for Al Strauss, brother of "Pittsburgh Phil" Strauss, in connection with a vagrancy charge on which Al was arrested eight months ago.

Interesting Talks At Rotary Meeting

Legislation concerning the highways was the topic discussed at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The speaker was John Gren, eastern representative of the National Highway Users Conference.

Before the coming of the automobile, the speaker pointed out that the use of highways although only by horse-drawn vehicles was deemed of sufficient importance for the state of New York to lay out 85,000 miles of roads. Highway importance today might be seen in their use by motor vehicle traffic. At the last survey made in 1934, the estimate in New York state was 19 billion miles of travel. In 1938 there were 2,259,000 motor vehicles.

The revenue that the state received through gasoline taxes and motor vehicles as presented by Mr. Gren showed a sharp increase in recent years and a corresponding sharp slice that the state takes for purposes other than highways such as good roads, bridges, etc.

For the fiscal year 1940 it was estimated that approximately $120,000,000 would be received through these taxing agencies on highway transportation. Out of this huge sum, about $21,000,000 would be returned to the municipalities and of the balance of $99,000,000 $26,000,000 would be used for highway purposes and the balance of $73,000,000 would go for non-highway purposes. He saw this diversion as an unfair use of the state's taxing powers as it was placed as a special tax against motorists and not on the non-motorists who pay and service rendered.

In the past nine years, he stated, $459,000,000 were diverted from state highways purposes.

He did not expect or advocate that the state immediately turn all this tax money over for highway purposes, but he suggested a slow, regular and easy process of cutting down these taxes and of gradually putting the moneys so levied into the building of safer highways.

On the question of gasoline taxes, he said the original two per cent tax was to be spent for highways with 1½ cents going to state and ½ being turned to the counties. He said the law was never obeyed. In this diversion of moneys, he declared, the state denied itself of the proper and adequate expansion of the highway system, in which 600,000 wage earners are now making a living. It further stunts business, depriving it of its normal, reasonable and profitable growth.

There was little doubt he expressed that the reckless, careless and the drunken driver would always be with us, but inadequate highways contributed to heavy loss of life and property damage.

In its relation to business in this state, he pointed to the travel and the money spent for advertising purposes to bring tourists here. Hotels, gasoline, station garages and amusement areas had a $250,000,000 increase through this source, and he said it would appear that good roads would easily swell these figures. Because poor highways tend to keep motor vehicle drivers off the roads.

Harry L'Hommedieu, program chairman, who introduced the highway transportation representative, made poetic reference to the advent of spring and also made mention in his introductory remarks to "magnanimity" and to "Voltaire on Helvetius."

Frederic Snyder, lecturer, gave some interesting slants on the European war and the importance to be attached to the action which might possibly be taken in the next ten days. Premier Daladier's relinquishing of the helm of the French government pointed to Red influence propping up again in France. Immediate action in carrying the war to Germany might stem this tide of Communism. A revolt in Germany by the 30,000,000 Catholics against the Communism hook-up with Stalin might also change the tide. He concluded with his usual expression of optimism and exhorted all to enjoy all that we have about us and stop worrying about the future or what is going on over there.

Rotarian Sam Cuddeback, Sr., and Sam Cuddeback, Jr., of Port Jervis and Claude Nunne of Newark, N. J., and Jack Hilton of Saugerties were guests.

duction of $57,000 in salaries of the board's trial examiners.

It reported that, until Congress amended the wage-hour law "to clarify certain ambiguities" and the administration could simplify procedure, "it would be imprudent" for Congress to approve in full the enlarged administrative setup the budget bureau proposed.

The committee disclosed that new phraseology had been put in the appropriation bill to strengthen the present law against use of federal funds to influence Congress.

"While this is already the law, the committee is not entirely satisfied that it is being observed as such in all its applications," the report said.

Charges that the labor board had "lobbied" for its own appropriations and against Wagner act amendments have been made before the special House investigating committee. Evidence on this subject was referred by the committee to the justice department, which now is investigating.

Whereas the appropriations committee has made deep cuts in other supply bills this session, it said that statutory requirements—such as those for social security payments—prevented any greater economies in this measure.

It reported that President Roosevelt's reorganization program had effected already a saving of $5,400,000 in the new federal security agency.

YANKEE THRIFT TURNS THE TIDE

Real prosperity can be brought about again in this country only by a revival of old-fashioned Yankee thrift and individual initiative." This is not opinionated theory but a hard fact, and the State of Connecticut is taking full advantage of it. While the rest of the country continues on a "witches' hunt" for Utopia, Connecticut is determinedly pursuing a course of progress.

The incumbent governor was elected on a platform pledge to establish a "friendly government"—friendly to business, industry and labor. The state budget has been balanced, without resorting to new taxes—relief rolls have been halved—factory space is at a premium—160 new companies moved to Connecticut in 1939 alone—and employment is higher than in 1929. The state has found that "there is no substitute for a good job in private industry."

No effort was made to "steal" industry from other states, or to use high pressure methods. Labor standards were not sacrificed. In fact industries which move across the border in search of "cheap" labor are not welcome. Sweatshops have no place in American life.

Politicians who claim that private enterprise is a "worn out" system, have only to observe Connecticut to have their claims shattered. The only thing that has momentarily "worn out" private enterprise is constant ballyhoo, indiscriminate legislation and excessive taxation deliberately directed toward destructive ends. America's millions of unemployed can learn a lesson from Connecticut. By contrast they can see the damage that constant political persecution has done to the private institutions by which we all must live.

When there is individual opportunity there is progress; where there is no individual opportunity there is no progress.

BID FOR PASSENGERS

Eastern railroads follow the example of the western roads and cut fares for round trips. The rate will be less than two cents a mile for long distances. It represents a compromise reached after weeks of consultation between officials asking for a higher rate and those wanting still bigger cuts.

Better trains and lower fares in the West have brought heavier passenger travel and increased revenues. Many people nowadays like to drive their own cars on trips and find it an especially economical way for families to travel together. But there are many others who prefer to ride in comfortable railroad coaches, particularly since air-conditioning has come in. It's clean and convenient and allows the rider to look at the scenery outside the window, take a nap or read while he's on his way, without having to watch traffic.

OLD METAL DAY

One of the most interesting things that have turned up in Germany lately is Hermann Goering's plan for Adolf Hitler's 51st birthday on April 20. Goering asks the German people to celebrate that great event by presenting to the Fuehrer "gifts of old metal." He will appreciate that, says Goering, more than anything else.

It is a very sensible idea, no doubt. Hitler needs iron, copper, brass and other metals in great quantities, for military use. The appeal is an implied confession that the British blockade is more successful than the Nazis have yet admitted. It might even be that the Big Push so long expected has been held up mainly for this reason.

But the incident will remind many Americans of something far removed from war and its requirements—of summer days when they searched the cellar and combed the neighborhood for treasure to sell to the junk dealer, who came rattling along with horse and wagon chanting, "Any rags, any bones, any iron today?" Old iron would bring a cent a pound. It is probably worth more than that in Germany now. There may be unusual value, too, in rags and bones.

INTERSTATE OBSTACLES

One state barrier has been knocked down, anyway. That is the tax on gasoline in the tanks of busses coming across state lines. The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled that states have no right to impose such a tax, because it is unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce.

No less important is the attitude of the dissenting minority of judges. Even while willing to tolerate the particular abuse involved in this case, they deplored the growing tendency to erect interstate barriers.

There are some provocations to self-defense, no doubt. But eminent jurists and business men are mostly agreed that these interstate taxes, however fair they may seem in any particular instance, on the whole do more harm than good.

American prosperity for the country as a whole depends on free trade among the states, to a degree that can hardly be overemphasized. This long-existing economic freedom between the various states and sections has probably had as much to do with our national success in the past as has our political freedom.

We don't want to start anything; but suppose all nations decided not to recognize any national boundaries ever established "by force or the threat of force." Of course, some of us are good now.

If the belligerents keep on trying to win the war by starving each other out, what happens to the women and children?

The biggest crop this year will be candidates.

CARE OF THE CHRONIC PATIENT

I was senior medical officer at a base hospital toward the close of the last war which placed all patients under my general care. The actual treatment was under consultants, ward medical officers and ward nurses. Many patients with us for weeks with chronic ailments applied to me for passes to leave hospital for a few days. I gave these passes readily as I felt that a few days away from hospital and other patients would stimulate their desire to get back to duty or home. I often think that the physician, and also the family of a patient with a chronic ailment become so used to the patient's complaints and presence in hospital or home that the patient loses any hope for any change in his condition and becomes very unhappy.

Dr. Orman C. Perkins in New York State Journal of Medicine says:

"The patient soon realizes the lack of interest on the part of the physician and travels from one to another until he loses confidence in physicians as a group. Since happiness is the real indication of success, any person who is unhappy is mentally ill. It is as much the duty of the physician to treat this type of illness as it is to overcome an organic or real ailment, even though both exist in the same patient. The state of unhappiness aggravates the organic process that exists."

For many years physicians considered it unfair to the patient to make calls at his home or have him come to the office when there was little or nothing that could be done for the patient's ailment. What physicians failed to realize was that the patient needed mental help, needed somebody who knew about his illness to listen as he told of his symptoms. To be able to see and talk to the physician meant more to his health than having to pay the physician's visits or office consultations.

This brings us back once more to the fact that as 50 to 75 per cent of patients who consult a physician have no physical ailment, this large percentage of patients must be treated from the mental or emotional standpoint.

It is only natural that the family of the patient who is chronically ill should get a little "used" to him and his complaints, but like the physician, they can make him less unhappy by a little thought.

Peiping, North China, (P.)—Elephants are the latest recruits in Japan's anti-British campaign in North China. Three performing elephants in a traveling Japanese circus are winning wide attention with their tricks. Shown the Japanese flag and then the flag of "New China," the elephants stand on their hind legs and raise their trunks in salute. When a tattooed Union Jack is waved in front of them, the elephants emit angry bellows. For the performance, they are rewarded with peaches. Persons who have witnessed both the circus tricks and "spontaneous" anti-British demonstrations by Chinese crowds, say there is much similarity between the two shows. But the human demonstrators are given 20 or 30 cents each, which is more than "peanuts" to the average impoverished Chinese coolie.

Bologna, Italy, (P.)—A monumental tomb memorializing Guglielmo Marconi is to be erected on the grounds of the family villa Pontecchio, near Bologna, where the inventor carried out his first experiments in wireless telegraphy. A wide open space surrounded with cypress and fir will be laid out on the sloping ground below the villa. Plans call for an open crypt in the center containing the sarcophagus where the remains of Marconi will have their final resting place. A bust of the scientist will stand on a low column in front of the colonnaded entrance to the villa. The monument is scheduled for completion by July 20, 1940, the second anniversary of Marconi's death. The Marconi villa will become a museum for relics of Marconi's studies and researches.

Pressure for S. E. C. Investigation Is Due to Congressional Realization of 'Perilous' Scope of Commission's Powers

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 21—Pressure for a comprehensive investigation of the Securities and Exchange Commission is growing. It is not at all due to maladministration in the sense in which the labor board has been subjected to scrutiny. It is due rather to an awakening in Congress to the fact that broad powers of life and death over industry and finance have been delegated to governmental commissions and that few who voted for the statutes had the remotest idea the laws would be as far-reaching as they are.

Under a system of representative government, elected officials make the laws and the power to make regulations is given to boards and tribunals within specific limits. But these "regulations" are sometimes based on broadly written language in the law and the commissions figuratively shrug their shoulders and say, "Well, that's the law Congress gave us to administer."

The theory back of delegation of power originally was that commissions and boards would use authority cautiously and with an idea of carrying out the intent of Congress. But who is judge of what that intent really is?

The other day the general counsel of the Securities and Exchange Commission was testifying before a House committee and he flatly told the members that he thought he was a better judge of what Congress intended to say in a certain statute which the S.E.C. enforces than were the members of the committee in question. The statement was subsequently denied and struck from the official record, but that it was made is corroborated by members of the House who heard it.

Again and again governmental commissions are claiming powers that are not to be found in the statute authorizing them in the first instance. Thus Senator Wagner in urging the labor relations bill which bears his name told his fellow senators that the law would not require an employer "to sign any agreement of any kind." But the labor board now has stretched the law to mean just such a compulsion and one circuit court of appeals decision has upheld the board in interpreting the law so drastically.

When the Senate labor committee itself made a report on the Wagner bill, it said:

"The unfair labor practices . . . are strictly limited to those enumerated in section 8. Unlike the federal trade commission act, this bill is specific in its terms. Neither the board nor the courts are given any blanket authority to prohibit whatever labor practices that in their judgment are unfair."

But the labor board has ignored this "intent" of Congress.

Briton Has $10,000 a Day; Can't Get a 'Thank You'

LONDON.—Sir John Reeves Ellerman, Britain's richest young man, whose income is about $10,000 a day, has given the British admiralty a $150,000 torpedo boat—and it can't even thank him. It doesn't know where he is.

Ever since 1933, when Sir John, who is 30 years old, inherited the bulk of his father's $171,709,771 estate, he has made a fetish of secrecy.

Shortly after he inherited his wealth he married Esther de Sola of Montreal, Quebec.

Living under assumed names, Ellerman leaves his vast business interests in the hands of a grizzled soldier, Lieut. Col. Sir William Cox. At his farm, near Sunningdale, Berkshire, he sometimes produces plays and issues invitations printed on gold leaf.

Sir John has many hobbies—and five lines in the British "Who's Who."

Several years ago the 92-year-old farm woman decided it was too much effort to walk to church each Sunday, so she built a chapel in her back yard. It has attracted many worshippers and pastors of all denominations have delivered sermons in it, because Mandy isn't a stickler for a special creed.

"Church folks are all heading for the same place," she explains. "They're just traveling different roads."

"Promote him, he shows initiative," was the prompt reply.

Here's the Latest Ice Fishing Story

WOLFEBORO, N. H.—It happened in New Hampshire:

Betty Gilman, 18, grand-niece of fishing guide Harry Parkins, went fishing through the ice.

She brought up a 10-pound, 30-inch cusk. The hole in the ice had to be cut larger so the catch could come through.

Inside the cusk were four other fish—a four inch cusk and three small perch.

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Mrs. A. B. Long left a custard pie outside her door to cool.

Harry Towns' dog came along and ate it.

Towns paid for the pie.

Canned

Portland, Ore.—F. C. Reiter caught a 69 pound salmon and proudly took it home. Then he noticed valuable prizes were being offered in a fishing contest.

"Sure, bring it in," said the contest manager. "We've got to display it."

Reiter rushed home—but his wife already had canned the fish.

C. of C. Memorial

Phoenix, Ariz.—The Junior Chamber of Commerce conducted a kangaroo court at the recent rodeo, fining all who appeared on the streets without cowboy costumes.

One tourist, brushing away a tear, explained he had just lost a son and would give $100 to the Chamber's Christmas fund as a memento.

The treasurer's latest report shows a $101.34 reduction in the fund. The visitor's worthless check came back, and the bank charged $1.34 for handling it.

New London, Conn.—This note accompanied $2 Frank Maria received in a letter from August H. Haucke of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y.:

"One morning this winter in New York city you damaged the Chicago—Bernard J. Wolweg was quite a book lover his wife, Lillian, told the court during the divorce hearing.

She testified that her husband installed a fine new library in their home while she was in a hospital and greeted her return with: "I have my books now, so I don't need you any more."

She got the divorce.

A CANDID TALK WITH—

THE MAN WITH A MILLION FRIENDS"

WHO HE IS

T. JOE CAHILL helped arrest Two-Gun Tom Horn, bad man of western cattle wars at the turn of the century. Despite that, Horn liked Joe so well he wouldn't let anyone else hood and strap him when they hanged him at Cheyenne. It's pretty hard making a friend under such circumstances. Joe hadn't read any books on personality and psychology, but his garden variety of companionship worked them and still is successful. He's known now as the "man with a million friends." Most of them say he's the world's champion friend-maker, strictly amateur. Born in Cheyenne when the west was wild, he's been an assistant fire chief there; he's been an unofficial walking advertisement for Cheyenne Frontier days for years; he was Wyoming's publicity director and public relations man for the Dude Ranchers Association and he managed Tex Rickard's Madison Square Garden rodeo. He has just retired as Cheyenne police chief.

It doesn't appear to be a painful process:

Counsel (in breach of promise case)—Now, tell me, please, on the evening of the 16th when you bade her goodbye, did she suffer you to kiss her?

Rustic Defendant—Well, I reckon now I did give her a kiss or two; but there wasn't no suffering about it as I could see.

Grandpa used a roller towel, a comb suspended from a string and a dipper shared by all, and died young at eighty-six.

Grandson fights germs tooth and nail and died exhausted at fifty.

May had been listening to some conversation between her father and another professor. The subject was black fleas.

May—What about the white fleas?

Professor—White fleas? I don't think there are any in this country.

May—Oh, yes, there are white fleas. Don't you remember, "Mary had a little lamb, its fleas were as white as snow?"

The evidence is here but not conclusive:

Teacher—Surely, you know what the word "mirror" means, Junior. After you've washed your face, what do you look at to see if your face is clean?

Junior—The towel.

Optimism

The pessimist, when the wolf blocks the door, sobs with a catch in his throat; but the optimist smiles and steps outside.

Then returns with a new coat.

Grandma—is your fur coat laid away among naphtha balls to keep the moths away?

Granddaughter—No, it's behind three gilt balls to keep the wolf away.

Votes Auto Inspection

Albany, N. Y., March 20 (P)—New York's Assembly voted today 113 to 27, to require semi-annual inspection of automobiles at an annual cost of one dollar to motorists.

The measure, which went to the Senate for expected approval, authorizes the state motor vehicle commissioner to license privately owned garages at a $10 fee to make the inspections each April and October. All cars would be required to display a certificate of inspection as a prerequisite to registration.

Bananas—an Oddity

Less than 70 years ago bananas were an oddity in the United States. So unusual was the fruit that a bunch of bananas on exhibit at the Philadelphia centennial in 1876 attracted crowds of curious visitors. Today, bananas are a familiar item of American diet, imported into the country chiefly from Central America, Jamaica, Mexico, Cuba, and Colombia. In 1938, more than 63,000,000 stems of bananas were shipped to the United States, the largest share coming from Central America.

Man's Oldest Food

"Barley has been called man's oldest food," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. "Widely grown now, from subtropical lands to regions beyond the Arctic circle, this hardy cereal was cultivated in China, according to ancient records, 20 centuries before Christ. The Egyptians, Greeks, and Romans knew it, as did the ancient lake dwellers of Switzerland. It even thrives on the roof of the world, 14,000 feet up in the mountains of Tibet and northern India."

What Russia Got From Finland

(P) Feature Service

Is the Russo-Finnish peace treaty another Munich agreement? Will Russia use her foothold to take over Czechoslovakia? Or will the Soviet and Finland (as the Russians assert) now live in peace?

Time alone will tell. Meanwhile, Russia, in six months, has added territory from Poland and Finland, has signed trade agreements with Bulgaria and Iran, and has gotten military bases in Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania, and now in Finland. From

WHAT'S YOUR NEWS I.Q. THIS WEEK?

By The AP Feature Service

- How did Representative Dies propose that his Un-American hearings be conducted until after the November election? Why?
- Germany declared war on Poland last September 1, but did not declare war on Britain and France until February 27. True or false?
- The man at right is Louisiana's new governor. Who is he, and whom did he beat?
- How many ships, of all nations, have been sunk by mine or submarine since the war began?
- Who is Dr. Karl Clodius and what was his latest mission?

- Whose plans were upset when Senator Vic Donahay declined to seek the title "favorite son" in Ohio's Democratic presidential primary?
- Did the House pass or defeat the bill to extend the Hull reciprocal trade program?
- The six-year-old lad at left has been enthroned as Tibet's new Dalai Lama. Why was he chosen?
- Britain's Prime Minister Chamberlain was speaking of what event when he termed it "a very gallant affair"?
- The U. S. will immediately develop and fortify Guam. True or false?

Each question counts 10; a score of 60 is fair, 80 good.

Committees Named For YMCA Drive

At the monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. on March 19, the 75th anniversary financial campaign committees were named. The general chairman of the campaign will be Clarence Dunn, with C. E. Wonderly, co-chairman.

The steering committee will be headed by Howard St. John and will consist of C. E. Wonderly, Stanley Matthews, Addison Pardee and Clarence Rowland. The initial gift chairmen will be A. B. Shufeldt and C. S. Treadwell.

The Y. M. C. A. campaign for this year has set as its goal the sum of $25,633. The 75th anniversary of the "Y" finds the association in need of such a sum to pay its current indebtedness, make improvements that are vitally necessary to the life of the association and to cover its budget for 1940-41.

The first of April is the date for the opening of the Initial Gift Drive followed by the regular drive from April 17 to 29.

The board directed the committees to start work immediately upon their commissions. Harry L. Edson has again offered his services in the drawing up of a prospectus for the coming drive.

In order that the Y. M. C. A. continue to do its work in the community, the 1940 campaign must be a success, the officials point out. The place that this organization fills in any community is worthy of support by all the citizens of the particular city.

For most cookery eggs should be removed from the refrigerator and brought to room temperature before used. Low temperatures are recommended for cooking all egg mixtures. When eggs or egg mixtures are cooked over water, temperatures below boiling are usually recommended for the water in the bottom pan. Such products as custards will curdle and seep liquid if over-cooked.

Will Discontinue Camps

Albany, N. Y., March 21 (P)—Seven New York forestry camps will be discontinued before July 1 due to the general reduction of CCC posts. The State Conservation Department said today the camp at Yaphank, L. I., will be closed March 31, and the North Pharsalia camp April 3. Other camps to be discontinued have not been selected. Personnel of the abolished posts will be absorbed by other CCC camps. Closing of the two will reduce the number of forestry camps to 30. A peak of 67 was assigned the state in 1935-36.

Asks Deductions

Albany, N. Y., March 21 (P)—Democratic Senator Joseph Urban, New York city, wants the legislature to make cigarette tax payments deductible from personal income tax returns. His measure to accomplish this followed a state department ruling the levy—which returned the state $13,907,345 at two cents a pack in the eight months beginning last July 1—may not be deducted because the legislature did not expressly stipulate payment by the consumer. New York city also levies a one-cent impost.

LEAP BEFORE YOU LOOK

By Peggy O'More

YESTERDAY: Tomi goes into Allen's arms, but as soon as help comes for the disabled boat, she is plunged back to reality. Pierre is furious at her prolonged stay on the island with Allen.

Chapter 21

The Whole Family

"ILY said—" Pierre hesitated. "She said Bartell was pulling his third degree on you. Those are her words, 'pulling his third degree.' And then she explained. She said it looked as though you were going to win the farm."

"Pierre, snap out of it and talk sense. What has third degree to do with my success with the farm?"

"When ever Bartell sees me's losing a case, he turns his charm on some feminine opponent. He makes her want to lose, so he can win."

"Tom's hands gripped the edge of the bench. Last night she had thought just that. She hadn't cared about the farm, about success, only about Allen Bartell.

"Lily said from now on Allen would be dating you regularly so he could keep you away from your work; make you lose interest in it. Tomi, look at me. Do you think I'm a species of rat for telling you this?"

Tomi looked at Pierre without seeing him.

"Don't you understand? If anyone were to treat my wife like that, I'd have a right to forward her, wouldn't I?"

Tomi's eyes were shining like two black diamonds. "Of course, Pierre, and you are French. I understand. We feel things differently. We react differently."

"And, Tomi, you will marry me, after we've won the farm?"

Tomi looked down at him and again she nodded with understanding. "I think so, Pierre. I'm not sure now that I want to marry anyone. I mean, I don't want to think of marriage until this season is over. After that—"

"I'll wait." He spoke with confidence. "Meanwhile, you will have nothing to do with Bartell."

Tomi stood up. "That's where you are wrong, Pierre. I'm going to see as much of Bartell as I can. I'm going to stay so close to him I can watch his every move. No, Pierre, I won't listen to you. I am not your fiancee yet. I'm free, and I want to be free. By the way, will you go to Sacramento for me this week? I haven't been able to sell the buyer for The Senator Hotel. That's one of the best markets in the valley."

Pierre was satisfied, elated. Again, he was the dignified business man. The boyish, appealing Pierre was lost behind the brisk business-like attitude.

"You'd better drive up today so you can see him first thing in the morning," Tomi concluded.

She went to her room to sit, tense, bitter. Everything Pierre had reported tallied with what had occurred the previous day. Allen had thrown her off-guard. She had seen him as a man, not her great-uncle's attorney.

Dotti had warned her he could turn his charm off and on, at will. He had willed to turn it on her for that brief time. She had basked in it, gloried in it. What a fool she had been.

So the feed-line had vibrated loose, had it? And that island obligingly appeared at the proper time. Something else was going to vibrate loose before she got through with Allen Bartell.

See him again? She certainly would. She'd be the Tomi he professed to like. Other men had found her enticing before she ever heard of this legal gigolo.

"I'm So Happy"

"TWO can play at your game, Allen Bartell, she prophesied, and started towards the window which gave view of his house.

She wheeled before she reached there and went to the front window. She wouldn't even look at his place.

And Lily! What a fine wife she would make, divulging Allen's professional secrets to his opponents. Dotti said their engagement had never been announced, so she Tomi, wouldn't be violating any ethics if she gave that brazen-headed little blonde a long stretch of unhappy hours.

Pierre had driven the car to the spot nearest the veranda and was stowing his bags inside. Tomi opened the screen and leaned out, watching him, talking to him.

"I'll bring home that order," he assured her.

The car door slammed. He waved goodby.

Tomi kneeled before the window and watched the car jog down the dirt road. Dear Pierre. Why couldn't Allen look after her interest like that?

And wasn't it a glorious day? Wild mustard, like strips of pale sunlight, lined either side of the road. Pierre was slowing down. Oh, there was a group of people in the middle of the road. Probably neighboring farmers walking back from High Mass.

All but one had stepped off into the wild mustard. Pierre was forced into it himself. The one figure had refused to give way. On it came, the others falling behind like a little band following the Major-domo.

Amused, Tomi watched until she saw the leader was a woman, a tall, dominant figure. Little wisps of dust arose as her long skirts trailed behind her.

"Dotty!" Tomi's wild scream brought the housekeeper flying upstairs. "Dotty! Look! The whole family! The Tolands. They've come to visit me!"

Dorothy Dougherty uttered a pious phrase, appropriate to the day, and sank into the nearest chair.

But Tomi raced down the stairs, out to the gate, and through the gate down the road.

"Aunt Hannah!" she caroled. "Dear, dear Aunt Hannah!"

The Queen Mary hat which rode the high pompadour went sideways under Tomi's onslaught.

"Must you always leap?" demanded Miss Toland.

"Of course," laughed Tomi. "Oh, Agatha, Amadala, Parilla, Mayello, And Carrington, Austin, Major, Harold!" She screamed the last word, for Harold, May Toland-Carrington's nine-year-old son, called her to attention with a vicious pinch.

"I'm so happy," Tomi bubbled. She was. The farm was going to be hers, and now the family had forgiven her.

They proceeded towards the house, flaying her with remarks.

"You look like a picked chick-en," condemned Great-aunt Hannah.

"Can't you afford to have your house painted?" inquired Austin.

"And why must you live so far from transportation?" whined Agatha, limping.

"I don't think slippers like that are appropriate for country roads," snorted Parilla.

Tomi laughed happily. The old sillies. Where had they found new clothes that looked so exactly like the ones they had started buying back in 1898? And didn't they know there were other colors than brown and gray?"

"I Was Here First"

She ushered them through the gate, thankful the garden was in such riotous bloom, up the path, grateful that Abe had mowed the lawn early that morning, and into the house, confident no one could find a speck of dirt.

In the living room they sat and became silent. Harold had disappeared. Great-aunt Hannah looked around, then said:

"Your Great-uncle Timothy's will states that you may visit you more than once a year, or remain longer than twenty-four hours at a visit. Therefore, I decided we should all come together to spend the allotted time."

Tomi gasped, "Oh, lovely," and indulged in mental gymnastics. How would she sleep fourteen people? Had she enough groceries to feed them? Why must there be a Sunday closing law affecting food stores?

Tomi introduced a grim and disapproving Mrs. Dougherty who promptly counted noses and sighed. Then Tomi was engulfed in talk.

She listened avidly. Never had there been such a trip. They had traveled on a beautiful new streamlined train. Such comfort, such food, such scenery.

Tomi smiled. Heretofore the family had thought the continent started in New York City and ended at Chicago. The girls hadn't been to New York since Captain Tom embarked for France. They had visited him at Garden City.

Tomi assigned them to rooms best she could. She would bring their beds from the shed where she had had the extra ones stored. Then, while they toured house and grounds, she hurried to the kitchen to help the silent Dotti prepare dinner.

A high, shrill screech broke the Sabbath stillness. Tomi rushed to the front porch to see Old Abe fishing Harold out of the goldfish pond. He applied a sharp cuff to the boy's ear.

"That'll learn you to catch Tomi's pets, you little heathen."

"Get off of this property!" demanded the voice of Great-aunt Hannah and she sailed into view.

"Get off yourself," spat Abe. "Who do you think you are, anyhow?"

"I," proclaimed the woman, "am Hannah Toland!"

"Well, I'm Old Abe," he proclaimed in return. "And I was here first."

Tomi sped to the rescue. She soothed Abe and soothed her aunt, then sent Harold in to don dry clothing.

"Sit down," ordered Great-aunt Hannah.

Tomi sat on the bench she had occupied earlier that morning.

"I just want to tell you, I forbid you marrying Allen Bartell."

Tomi wondered if she were going into hysterics. In a moment she was going to shriek with laughter. Desperately she controlled herself. "Yes, Aunt Hannah," she murmured.

"That is all. Now I will go to my room. New stays," she explained.

Tomi looked at her aunt and something akin to pity welled up. The poor old hussy. She was tired. Her eyes were bloodshot. She had probably absorbed every inch of scenery as long as it was daylight. Her skin was flabby with weariness, heavily lined.

Tomi guided her up to her own room. Helped her into a brown quilted robe, pulled the blinds and raced back to Dotti in time to hear a wild squawking from the chicken yard, followed by a howl of rage.

"Get outta here!" roared Old Abe's voice.

Bill's Prospects Dim

Washington, March 20 (CP)—Prospects that the billion-dollar farm bill would pass the Senate by nightfall diminished today when several senators indicated they would speak extensively on amendments. Leaders predicted, however, that the big appropriation measure, carrying $201,940,049 more than President Roosevelt's budget estimates, would pass tomorrow in substantially the form suggested by the Senate appropriations committee. Before the final vote the chamber had to act on a proposal by Senators Lee (D., Okla.) and Bilbo (D., Miss.) to increase a proposed $212,000,000 fund for parity payments to $207,000,000.

Yachtsman—If this squalid contention, I shall have to heave to. Girl Passenger—What a horrid way to put it.

Grand Jurors Give Out Statement

The grand jury which reported to Justice Pierce H. Russell Monday handing up 16 open and two sealed indictments also filed with the court the following statement as a part of its report:

The grand jury for the month of March convened on the fourth day of the month at 11 a.m. and concluded its deliberations on Monday, March 18, 1940.

We regret to record that one of our number, Arthur T. Merrill, was suddenly stricken and is at present seriously ill. We extend our sincere hope for his recovery.

It is with considerable pleasure that we avail ourselves to the established custom of the grand jurors upon the completion of their labors, to express our appreciation for the assistance rendered us.

To our district attorney, N. LeVan Haver, and assistant, Frederick H. Stang, we would express our thanks for their able preparation and presentation of the cases which came before us and for their excellent cooperation and guidance. To William P. Glass, grand jury stenographer, we tender our appreciation for his courtesy and valuable assistance.

The jail was inspected by the jurors and found in excellent condition indicating the able and efficient direction of Sheriff Abram F. Moleneaux, who we regretted to learn was indisposed and unable to be present.

In closing we humbly offer the following recommendation:

That the majority of the chairs in the grand jury room be retired for their long and efficient service lest they suffer utter collapse, repairs or replacement is inevitable.

Lawmakers Get Many Wicks Bills

Albany, March 21 (Special)—The Senate has passed, and sent to the Assembly for concurrence, a bill of Senator Arthur H. Wicks, of Kingston, requiring owners of horses, combination horses and ambulances transporting sick or injured persons along a highway in a town of less than 2,000 inhabitants, to secure a corporate surety bond or insurance policy, to secure payment of damages, as is now required of motor carrier owners.

Also passed by the Senate, and sent to the governor for final disposition, are these two measures sponsored by Senator Wicks:

Amending the town law, giving the chief engineer under direction of the fire commissioners board, exclusive control of members of the fire department at all fires, inspections and reviews, and supervision of all property used for prevention of fires.

Extending the powers of the public service and transit commissions to transit facilities owned or controlled by municipalities or a public authority, and operated by it or by any board or agency, so far as concerns safety and adequacy of road bed, rolling stock, equipment and appliances.

Two new bills have been introduced in the Legislature by Senator Wicks, one of which imposes a tax of $1 a gallon upon all brands made from the juice of apples in lieu of the regular $1.50 a gallon tax on liquors now imposed by the tax law.

The bill went to taxation committee for further consideration.

The second Wicks bill prohibits an owner from allowing his dog to run at large in forest inhabited by deer and permits the killing of any dog therein by a game protector or member of the state police.

This went to conservation committee.

Mercury Mine in Idaho Discovered by Chance

A chance discovery of a sheepherder has provided Idaho with its first mercury mine and a new $1,000,000 industry, according to state mining officials.

A sharp price rise in the quicksilver market gave a new impetus to the venture when the European war broke out and now the Almaden mines, developed by L. K. Requa, veteran Santa Barbara mining engineer, are producing an estimated 400 pounds of pure quicksilver a day.

Andy Little, young sheepherder with a flair for mining, chased a lost sheep across the sagebrush-covered mountains 20 miles west of the city of Weiser in 1936 and practiced an outcropping of reddish ore at his pony's feet. He came back the next year and staked out 18 claims.

Requa visited the area on one of his periodic tours of western mining districts and examined the shepherd's cinnabar stake. He leased the property for 20 years with an option on further leasing, formed a company, set up a plant and began production last summer.

The venture is a closed corporation and no stock is sold.

Requa believes the mountain on which the mine is located is a solid mass of mercury in opaque and phyllite forms, left by an old lake bed. Cinnabar is an ore mineral that occurs in both bedded and vein deposits.

The plant is the latest metallurgical science has produced. The ore is roasted in a kiln at 1500 degrees and the mercury passes off in the form of a vapor to be condensed in 12 tubes, 30 feet high. The mercury is drawn off at the bottom into buckets and placed in flasks, ready for shipment.

The mine is an open pit operation. The ore is blasted out of the hillside, tons at a time and rolled cars along a narrow-gauge track to a bin, attached to a long conveyor belt. The belt carries the ore to a crusher and thence to a kiln where it is roasted.

Fuse Is Safety Valve

Of Electrical System
Fuses, or circuit breakers are the safety valves in the electrical system. Extra fuses should be kept on hand in case one blows out. There should be enough circuits, each controlled by a fuse, to carry all the appliances the house is likely to have, point out M. S. C. specialists.

When a fuse blows out it is usually an indication that there is a short circuit or an overload. Perhaps too many appliances have been connected to one circuit. This trouble occurs frequently in houses wired several years ago, before people began to have such a variety of electric devices, such as mixers, dishwashers, waffle irons, peculators, fans, razors and warming pads, as well as the refrigerator, washing machine, laundry iron and vacuum cleaner.

By removing fuses one at a time and noting which lights and outlets are "dead," a blown fuse may be found.

Washing Shades

To wash window shades, lay them open on a flat surface. Wash and rinse over a small area at a time. Rub with a sponge and wipe quickly with clean dry cloth. Keep the shade on the flat surface until it is perfectly dry and then hang.

Mrs. Callahan Is an Unwilling Patient in Hospital at Miami

Says She's Not Sick And Insists She Be Allowed to Join Her Husband

Miami, Fla., March 21 (AP)—Enriched by an agreement that provides funds and medical care, Mrs. Katherine Callahan, who hopes to become a mother of quintuplets, rested today in a hospital suite far more luxurious than her one-room, $2.50-a-week apartment.

But she was not a willing patient. Her physician, Dr. Arthur W. Wood, who earlier confirmed that X-ray photographs apparently showed five distinct heads of unborn babies, had to persuade the mother that a period of rest was necessary.

"I'm not sick," she asserted, and demanded to be permitted to join her husband, Emory, 30-year-old furniture factory woodworker who earns $15 weekly.

Is Under Contract

Today the Miami Herald, whose owner, John S. Knight, placed the Callahans under contract for exclusive publication rights of photographs and news, planned to lease a new home for them where nursing and medical attention would be constantly available.

The Herald's agreement provided the prospective mother with an undisclosed sum of money, the services of Dr. Wood and specialists if the physician desires to call them, and all hospital expenses, including nurses, as well as income from news and pictures.

Normally, the babies would be born May 20. Medical men pointed out, however, that multiple births usually are premature. The mother, a small, brown-haired, blue-eyed woman, has gained 20 pounds in recent months. She weighs 128 now, but her condition was declared to be excellent by Dr. Wood.

His Father Is Twin

The husband's father, Thomas C. Callahan, of Thomasville, Ga., was a twin, but no other multiple births have been recorded in the family.

The couple came to Miami in October, 1939, from Thomasville. They were married in Cullman, Ala., June 17, 1939. Mrs. Callahan is the adopted daughter of E. L. Duren of Amory, Miss., a ticket agent for the Mississippi-Tennessee Railroad.

The Callahans are pleased that fate apparently has selected them for the event with a mathematical probability of 1 in 57,000,000.

"I hope they're all boys," said the mother. "Emory likes boys."

She said she wanted a family of 12 children "and it's all right with me if there are two sets of quintuplets and twins."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doell have returned home after spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Jens Jorgensen, of Brooklyn, who has bought the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Olsen, have moved there.

Miss Betty Liebman, of Jamaica, L. I., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen for a week.

Charles Haupt, of Jamaica, L. I., spent the week-end with his family in this place.

Jack Wall, of Albany, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Olsen and brother, William Wall.

Mrs. Wilson, of Jamaica, L. I., is the guest of Mrs. Charles Haupt.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Doell have returned home after spending a few days in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wied-mann, of Greenwich, Conn., were the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Paley, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Beatty and son Vernon, of Atwood, called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Van Demark, Wednesday.

Spearing Allowed

Mullet, carp, dogfish, catfish, bullheads, suckers and eels may be taken by spearing, from March 21 to November 30, 1940, from all waters in Ulster county, except waters inhabited by trout, and Twin Lakes, known as Esopus Lakes, in the town of Ulster, District Game Protector Fred DeWitt announces. The announcement follows an order issued by J. Victor Skiff, superintendent of inland fisheries.

The couple came to Miami in October, 1939, from Thomasville.

They were married in Cullman, Ala., June 17, 1939. Mrs. Callahan is the adopted daughter of E. L. Duren of Amory, Miss., a ticket agent for the Mississippi-Tennessee Railroad.

Dog Warden Holds Rabies Suspect

A dog caught by Dog Warden Andrew Griffin on Wednesday afternoon is being held under observation in the dog pound on Flatbush avenue under the suspicion that the animal may be afflicted with rabies.

Some who have seen the animal, however, believe that the dog was injured by an automobile, and that the injuries suffered are causing the dog to act queerly.

Although several of the towns in southern Ulster county have been under quarantine for nearly a year for rabies among dogs, no cases of the disease have so far been reported in the Kingston area.

cance at the Normal, Saturday afternoon.

Local dinner guests at the Rion dan school Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hasbrouck, Dr. Carl Meekin, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lent, Misses Emily and Barbara Lent, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Lent, Richard and David Lent, Mr. and Mrs. Charles DuBois, Mrs. J. W. Blakely. A musical program was enjoyed during the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rhodes are the parents of a daughter born last week at their home in Milton. Mrs. Rhodes was formerly Miss Adele Hull of this place. This is their fourth child.

Dr. and Mrs. Victor P. Salvatore returned Wednesday from a vacation spent in Clearwater, Fla. They made a stop at Fredericksburg, Md., to visit historical places. Their son, John Salvatore, a freshman at Syracuse, will arrive Saturday for the spring vacation.

Arrangements are completed for the senior Washington club trip to the capitol city on March 26. The group will be chaperoned by their class advisor, Mrs. Edward McCarthy and those going are: Frances Albertson, Alice Altheusen, Mrs. Brenni, Aldo Chaisan, Ned Conklin, Florence Dapp, Mary DiBenetto, Minnie Alia, Mildred Field, Lulu Flauto, Marietta Freer, Mary Mandy, Richard McCarthy, Margery Mellor, Katherine Murphy, Jean Schantz, Charlotte Shaw, Alvia Smith, Louis Smith, Jr., Marie Tompkins, Harold Vandervoort.

Mrs. A. W. Williams, Miss Julia Van Keuren and Mrs. Helen Deyo Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Busch, attended the musical service in the Reformed church at New Paltz, Sunday afternoon, when the "Stabat Mater" by Rossini, was sung.

Mrs. Andries DuBois of Poughkeepsie, was a guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Franham, Tuesday.

soon loops on his side to kick his last.

If he has been "stuck" properly, the animal will be lifeless in a few minutes.

Into Scalding Water

The carcass is then dragged to a vat and dipped into scalding water which has been prepared.

Then the hide is scraped. The hair disappears as if by magic with the use of a conical tool. Stubborn bristles are shaved with a sharp knife.

The spanking pink porker then is suspended by chain and pulley for further preparation. A long slit is made from stern to stern on the underside and the entrails are removed.

Heart, liver and tongue are salvaged. Next the carcass is split in half with knife and saw and is ready for sale or storage.

Most farmers consider only the liver edible the same day the animal is butchered. The rest must "season" for anywhere from 24 hours to a week or more in a cold place to bring out its rich characteristic flavor.

Police Board Meets Tonight

Considerable local interest is centered on the meeting of the Board of Police Commissioners this evening when the board is expected to appoint a chief of police, lieutenant, sergeant and a patrolman. The board is also expected to take action on retiring Policeman William Hess with a pension.

There has been considerable speculation since the civil service board announced the standing of those who had taken the promotion examinations for lieutenant and sergeant of the police force as to who would be appointed.

There seems to be no question but that Lieutenant Charles Phiney, who has been serving as acting chief since the retirement of J. Allan Wood as head of the police department, will be named chief of the department.

Members of the police board when seen refused to commit themselves as to who they favored for the positions of lieutenant and sergeant.

Officer Hess, who it is said the board is planning to retire from active service, this year completed 27 years of efficient service on the police force.

Scenes at Kerhonkson as Mr. Pig Yields Up His Bacon

Dial Telephones In Two Villages

Dial telephone service went into operation early Tuesday morning in High Falls and Rosendale, when the New York Telephone Company completed the conversion of its exchanges at these places to the new system.

After months of intensive work, on the part of the telephone forces everything was in readiness by Monday night. The actual operation of cutting over the office, though it took place wholly behind the scenes so far as the public could observe, possessed some interesting features.

Early Tuesday morning, details of men under the direction of J. F. Kelly, plant chief, were stationed at each of the old and new offices.

After last minute tests to determine that no detail had been overlooked, word was given at 6:59 a. m. to the men stationed at the old offices to disconnect all subscribers lines to these offices. This operation required but a few seconds.

Next came the order to cut in the new offices, another almost instantaneous operation, and before 7 o'clock every dial telephone was in service and ready for use.

All subscribers were advised by letter a few days ago of the date and time of the change and were supplied with directories giving the new dial numbers, and containing full instructions as to the method of dialing. As a result the telephone users were prepared for the change, and according to C. E. Burnett, manager, few calls for assistance were received.

Occasionally a person might dial his number before getting the "dial one" a steady humming sound, attempt to dial without keeping the receiver off the hook. The correct method, however, was easily learned with one or two trials and gave no further trouble.

The special crews who have been installing the equipment will be busy for a while longer, taking out the old instruments from the customers' premises and to remove old outside wires which have been superseded by new cables and wires.

The coming of spring usually means a rush of applications for help; every New York farmer, therefore, who needs the help of the Farm Security Administration should apply now and not two months from now.

Reformed Church, the Rev. Ben Thaden, pastor—Church service with Easter sermon, 9:30 a. m. Sunday school 10:30 o'clock.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed Church held its March meeting in the church hall last Thursday with a good attendance. The last two months the members have earned around $30. The annual dinner was postponed until the month of May. At the close of the business session refreshments were served by the hostesses. Mrs. Abe Deyo and Mrs. Arthur Deyo.

Mrs. Sigrist is home from a five weeks stay in Orlando, Fla. She reports having a delightful time but reports very cold weather and inadequate heating facilities.

Lloyd Keator is back in the store after a two weeks absence because of a severe cold.

Mrs. William Deyo and Miss Kate Depuy, attended a turkey dinner Saturday, at Kingston, given by Mr. and Mrs. William Cornell in honor of Mrs. Deyo's birthday.

The community is saddened by the death of Mrs. D. L. Christianson Tuesday morning. She has been a life-long resident of Tillson and will be greatly missed in the community. She was a member of the Reformed Church and when her health permitted, was active in all departments of church work.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Keator called on her mother, at Port Ewen, last Friday. Her mother has been ill for some time.

The St. Patrick's party given by the Camera Club of the public school was a pleasant affair. There was a large attendance and all enjoyed themselves. One feature was a play telling the story of the life of St. Patrick.

When the United States has acquired most of the world's gold, it is commonly predicted that the remaining countries of the world will abandon gold as a monetary metal and this country will be left holding the bag. It must be remembered, however, that a good proportion of the world has already left the gold standard. This does not mean that they no longer value gold highly. Gold has a greater demand as a store of value than for monetary use. Because of the economic and political chaos in recent years, people throughout most of the world have greater demand for gold now than when they were on the gold standard.

Hull-Farley Talk Is Revived Today

ion that Farley was in the race to stay, third term candidacy or not.

But any hope which the Garmites might have held for a coalition of forces to "stop Roosevelt" appeared to have been blasted by Farley's statement that he was "in no combination with anybody."

One southern senator, preferring not to be quoted by name, said Farley had told him he had obtained the distinct impression at a White House conference that the President wanted to retire, but had not heard that chief executive say he would not accept the nomination if tendered.

Two-Fold Opinion

This senator added a two-fold opinion:

That Farley's statement yesterday in Massachusetts, where a convention delegation is in the field for him, was a desire to force a showdown on the third term issue.

That if the President told Farley later he was wrong in assuming a third term was definitely out of the question, Farley would go along.

Senator McCarran (D., Nev.), who with several others has been urging the President to declare his intentions, had this to say about Farley's statement:

"I am glad he made a positive statement. I wish that other great Americans would do likewise."

Only one senator expressed disappointment over the action. Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) said he regretted that "Jim Farley, whom the people have always known as the other member of the Roosevelt-Farley team, has chosen to make this announcement before President Roosevelt, his chief, has been able to determine what the welfare of his country may require his course to be."

Some senators in support of their argument that Farley was not out to buck Mr. Roosevelt, noted that the Democratic chairman had not said whether his name would be presented to the convention for president or vice president.

Should the President decide not to run, they said, Farley would be in a good position for the second place nomination if the head of the ticket came from the west or border states.

Meanwhile, Navy Secretary Edison's announcement of candidacy for the Democratic nomination for governor of New Jersey merely added to the speculation over a third term.

Two Republican senators took this as added evidence that Mr. Roosevelt was going to quit. They argued that Edison, comparatively fresh in his cabinet post, would conceivably remain in that position under a third Roosevelt administration.

Most of us think the United States is pretty well settled and there are no uncharted lands. To some extent, this is true, but, according to the Michigan Department of Conservation, there are some 1,000 unnamed lakes in the state.

It's Easter Time-And Do The Movies Know It

(P) Feature Service

Away back in February the movie people began figuring out ways to use Easter as another excuse for getting their actresses before the public. Time-tried ways are to picture the girls (1) in church, (2) with an Easter rabbit, (3) as a nun. This year as these samples show, the movie people decided the time-tried ways are best. A notable variation was achieved with No. 3 by picturing Cameraman Scotty Welbourne risking his neck to make the picture.

BLOOMINGTON

The Girl's League for Service of the Bloomingdale Reformed church held its March meeting at the home of Miss Edith Schneider in Maple Hill. The president appointed the following committee:

Press reporters, Ruth Hotaling and Giselle Sabo.

Membership, Evelyn Fagher and Norma Duda.

Social, Helen and Dorothy Nielson, Natalie Phillips, Miss Florence Relyea and Mrs. Neal Hotaling.

Forget-Me-Not, Edith Schneider and Ruth Hotaling.

The counselor will be Mrs. W. K. Hayson and advisors are Miss Florence Relyea and Mrs. Neal Hotaling.

After the meeting refreshments were served by Miss Edith Schneider. Those present were: Mrs. W. K. Hayson, Miss Florence Relyea, Miss Marguerite Randegger, Miss Edith Schneider, Miss Georgia Cross, Miss Ruth Hotaling and Miss Giselle Sabo.

Burned sponges were used in the thirteenth century to treat goiter. In 1819 chemists discovered iodine in this ash. Now food scientists know that traces of iodine in the diet help prevent goiter. Cod-liver oil was used to treat rickets centuries before vitamin D was discovered.

Farmers who would like a copy of the schedule of questions in the 1940 census of agriculture may get it from the county agricultural agent. He has copies for distribution. These copies are not to be sent to the Census Bureau or to anyone else. They are to be filled out and kept until the enumerator calls.

TRAINING CAMP BRIEFS

(By The Associated Press)

Saint Antonio, Tex.—To fortify their catching department since Joe Glenn has extended his holdout, the St. Louis Browns have signed George Susce, who was released unconditionally by the Pittsburgh Pirates.

San Bernardino, Calif.—Pitching woes again have beset Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs. Clay Bryant, who pitched only 31 innings last year but was believed recovered from his lame arm, complained yesterday of a new soreness. Vance Page also showed up with a sore arm and asked to be excused from today's assignment against Pittsburgh. Rookies Jake Motoy and Vern Olsen have similar troubles.

Sarasota, Fla.—Dom DiMaggio is likely to be the only freshman wearing a Boston Red Sox uniform this season. Manager Joe Cronin, after looking over his rookies thoroughly, already has decided which will be included in the first squad cut this week for the Durham and Rocky Mount farms. Most of the rookie survivors probably will wind up with Louisville or Little Rock next week.

Winter Haven, Fla.—A few more stunts of the kind young Dick Conger has been pulling for the Detroit Tigers will make him a "spring sensation." Never in pro ball before, the west coast ex-collegian has pitched nine scoreless innings and allowed only two hits. He worked one hitless inning against the New York Giants yesterday. The same teams are scheduled again today with the veterans Carl Hubbell and Hal Schumacher on call for the Giants.

Orlando, Fla.—A report that Zeke Bonura would return to a Washington uniform spread through the Senators' camp today. Bonura was reported to have agreed to salary terms proposed by President Clark Griffith, leaving the deal hanging on an exchange of rookies which the New York Giants desire.

Bradenton, Fla.—Bill Posedell and Lou Fette, the ranking members of the Boston Bees' pitching staff, have been assigned the thankless task of trying to stop

Sports Roundup

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, March 21 (AP)—Johnny Paycheck is looking worse than terrible in the gym, if that means anything. . . . Dick Chapman, the golfin blue blood, is writing a book dealing with the exploits of the 15 best amateurs in the republic. . . . If Herbert Woolf decided to let Lawrin try a comeback, his first start will be made at Churchill Downs where he won the Derby in 1938.

. . . Joe Louis has been made an honorary justice of the peace at Greenwood Lake, N. Y., where he is training for Paycheck. Florida scribes report that next to Bill Jurgens, the best-looking infielder with the Giants is Burgess Whitehead, who was figured to have a tough time landing a suitable berth.

So What?

A big to-do was made in the papers when Louis Zamperini, the miler, flew 5,800 miles from Los Angeles to New York and back just to fall down in his race. . . . How about Angelo Puglisi, the boxer, who once traveled all the way from Duluth, Minn., to Australia to be knocked out by the first punch Ron Richards threw at him?

Horsemen are wondering who is behind the "Blue Grass Club," a new racing book which is offering better Derby odds than Jimmy Carroll's St. Louis book. . . . For instance, the "Blue Grass Club" has Bimblech Down at 4-1 straight, 2-1 place and even money show. . . . Carroll and the others are quoting him at only 3-1. . . . Joe Cronin is in the magazines this week yelling, "we'll beat the Yankees!" . . . Two five-to-one shots came through at two of the Subway Circuit fight clubs Tuesday night. . . . The Indians have a real catching problem with Rollie Hemsley hurt and Frankie Pytlak holding out. . . . Add Paycheck: They'll have Benny Leonard in his corner—to do what he can.

Best boxer to show up in the Golden Gloves was Jim Richie, the St. Louis light-heavy who is a bad carrier on the side. . . . Jim Londos' latest interview: "Wrestling must be cleaned up—foolery must go or pastime will die." . . . Dana X. Bible has 'em four deep down at Texas U. . . . Still they say the guy has lost 18 pounds since he went down there on that $15,000 contract. . . . The Florida suds have Joe Vosmik's puppies barking right out loud. . . . Dave Woods, Pimlico and Belmont publicity chief, has dug into the records and found that the first parade of stakes to the post was in the Belmont Stakes of 1871.

St. Petersburg, Fla.—They're going to unveil Vernon (Lefty) Gomez today. The Yankee left-hander will be making his entry to his 11th year of baseball. He had a bad year last season and reports so far have been far from encouraging. The Boston Bees will get the first chance to see him in action this year.

And the Fairview High School basketball squad of Dayton, Ohio, has a player named Ken Dibble.

Add Names Is Names

Last year the Detroit Tigers had a Leslie Fleming and a Robert Harris on their spring roster.

This year they also have a

Leslie Fleming and a Robert Harris at Lakeland, but they're two different guys.

Hopper Defeats Marchuk In Billiard Tournament

Bill Hopper stayed in the running in the city pocket billiard tournament Wednesday night by a decisive win over Mike Marchuk, 100 to 68. Hopper had little difficulty with the musical cueist and a run of 27 made things easier for him. Marchuk had a run of 16.

Tonight, Walt Jeggers and Bob East clash at 8 o'clock.

Able to forget her feet, which are buoyed up by the "water wings," Miss Flood can concentrate on perfecting arm action.

Hudson Elks to Play Poughkeepsie Quintet

At Auditorium Tonight

At the municipal auditorium tonight at 9 o'clock the Hudson Elks will meet the Poughkeepsie Crusaders in the semi-final round of the Hudson Valley Basketball tournament.

The Hudson squad recently defeated the strong Kingston Clermonts gaining the right to enter the semi-finals. The Elks have a hard working combination, playing consistently throughout the entire game.

Poughkeepsie with one of the strongest teams in the loop should give the Elks plenty of trouble in the battle to be staged here tonight.

Greenberg Switch Gets Okay From Famed Ex-Flychaser

HARRY HEILMANN HANK GREENBERG

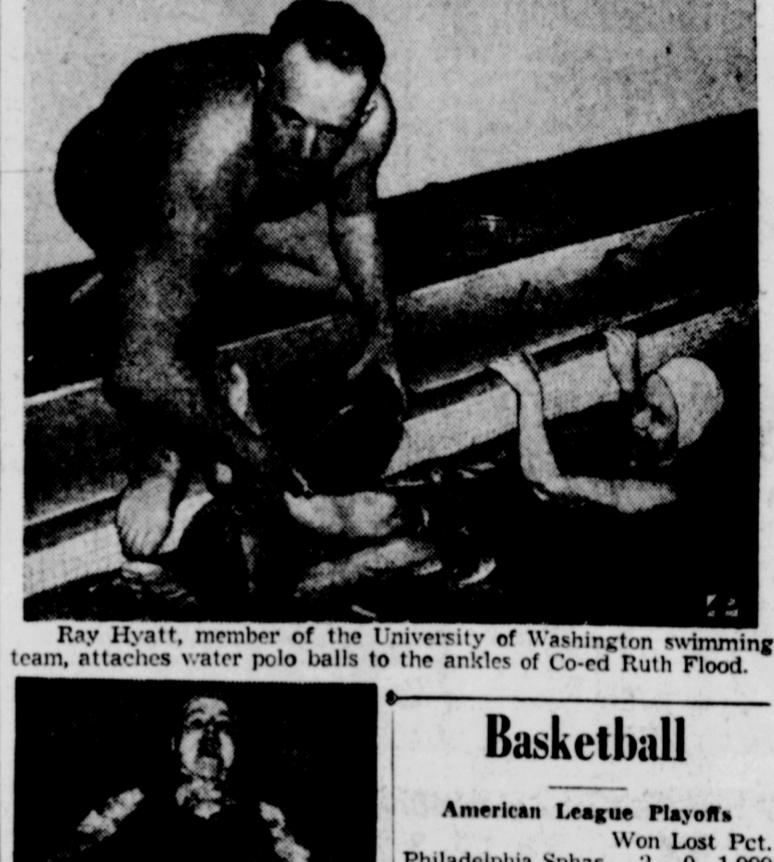

(AP Feature Service)

Lakeland, Fla.—Hank Greenberg is going to be a great success as an outfielder. You can take that unqualified prediction from one of Detroit's best old time flychasers, heavy-hitting Harry Heilmann.

"The big fellow looks good out there," said Heilmann, who spent more than a decade in Detroit's outer gardens and now describes the Tigers' games from a radio booth.

"It really isn't too difficult a shift from the infield to the outfield," Heilmann explained. "A player who has been around as long as Greenberg should be able to make the jump without trouble."

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, March 21—Miss Moore, Miss Frances Roosa and Ralph Johnson attended a meeting of the executive committee of the Ulster Educators which met at the Elms* in Highland recently. Eighty-six people enjoyed a delicious supper which had been prepared by the older girls of the New Paltz Girl Scout troop at a birthday supper in the Sunday school room of the Reformed Church Friday evening. Mothers and friends of the scouts were the guests. The affair was to celebrate the 28th birthday of Girl Scouting in America. The scouts welcomed their guests in the reception room which was decorated with spring flowers and yellow candles. The upper room and table decorations were green and white the Girl Scout colors. Mrs. Hauptmann, mother of Scout Helen Hauptmann, surprised the group with a large three tier birthday cake which she made. This was also decorated in green and white. After the supper Miss Helen Hauptmann, captain of the troop, introduced the speakers, Miss Flinetta Norton, the itinerant director, who is working in southern Ulster for two months; and Miss Bertha Bennett, who talked on her visit to the Girl Guide camp in England the past summer. Betty Van Winkle played a piano solo and six of the girls danced a Russian folk dance in costume. The program was concluded by Miss Josephine Muffy showing local moving pictures.

Miss Mary Ellen Rich of New Paltz entertained with motion pictures at the meeting of the Mother's Club in Modena Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Eli DuBois were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jason Baker at Kerhonkson on Sunday.

Ten members of the New Paltz Junior Rifle Club team accompanied by Leonard Wood and Frederick Heinsohn won over Kingston team there with an exciting 20-shot prone rifle match by 37 points. The final scores were 927 for New Paltz and 892 for Kingston. New Paltz High School team plans to enter the Hudson Valley Junior Rifle Shoot to which over 50 high school teams have been invited.

The Parent-Teacher meeting was postponed this week on account of the Easter vacation.

Eileen Bennett and Dorothy Hummel spent the weekend at their homes in Wappingers Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver C. DuBois have moved from their home on the New Paltz and Modena road to their residence on Lower Main street.

Most Markets to Close For Long Week-End

(By The Associated Press)

Widespread observance of the Holy Week and the approaching Easter season will close many of the world's markets and financial exchanges for an extended weekend.

NEVER CONGRATULATE GIRL ON HER ENGAGEMENT, EMILY POST REPEATS

Subject Is Brought Up Again In Letter Asking Whether Fiance's Mother Should Be Included in Felicitation

NEVER, NEVER congratulate a woman on her engagement! Jokes and cartoons have, for so long as living memory goes, seized upon this as meaning she is lucky to have found a husband. When this is said to a spinster of advanced years, it is naturally more noticeable than when said to a very young girl. This subject is brought up by a letter asking: "When going to a party given by the man's mother for his fiancee, should the guests congratulate the mother as well as the newly engaged girl?"

The answer to this is that congratulations are properly given only to the bridegroom-to-be. To his mother you say whatever comes naturally to mind. Something pleasant about both her son and the girl, or about whichever one you know best. To the girl you give your best wishes. If he is an old friend, you say whatever is pleasant and true. When you say good-bye to the hostess (if you do) you tell her something nice about the girl—that she is interesting or pretty or charming—whatever it was about her that impressed you most.

How to Speak of Your Wife

Dear Mrs. Post: Isn't it bad form for a husband to speak of his wife as "she" to their maid?

Answer: Decidedly bad form. He should say "Mrs. Jones."

Mother and Daughter-in-Law

Dear Mrs. Post: I am a widow and have an only son, who is married. When his wife and I happen to be in the same group, what can people call us in order to distinguish one from the other?

Answer: Whenever she is with you and among people who do not call her by her first name, she is called "Mrs." followed by the name they call your son. If they call him James, they call her "Mrs. James." If to them he is Jimmy, she is "Mrs. Jimmy."

Women Alone

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct for a woman, or women alone, to wear evening dress at a theatre or concert?

Answer: When my husband and I used to go to these same places and sit in these same seats, we always dressed. The question is whether it is proper for a woman without a man to do this.

Answer: Yes, just as proper now as before.

Going to a Man's College

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm going to a college at a well-known man's college. My host has written that he has made arrangements for me to stay with a private family; that all the private families in the town let out rooms to the boys on such occasions. Shall I make any effort to pay for this room before I leave or do I just take it for granted that he is taking care of this?

Answer: When you are ready to leave you might ask your landlady how much you owe her for the room. If she says that your friend has taken care of this, you let the matter drop. If, on the other hand, she tells you that she has been your hostess, this will be one of those really painful moments when all you can do is to apologize as well as say thank you, and blame your own carelessness in not having made sure beforehand whether you were a lodger or a guest!
